STATE TAX FORMS WILL NO LONGER BE MAILED TO CORPORATIONS

Indiana corporations will no longer be receiving their state tax forms and instruction booklets by mail next tax season, report Indiana Department of Revenue officials.

Electronic filing is proving to be a more popular method of filing taxes, because it is more accurate and efficient. Corporations have filed very few of the forms provided by the Indiana Department of Revenue in recent years, say Department officials.

A new free service to tax practitioners this coming tax season will be its 2001 Indiana Package IN-X on CD ROM, which includes all of the state's tax forms on computer disk, as well as Information Bulletins, Departmental Notices, Commissioners' Directives and other tax-related information and materials. There has been a charge for this service in the past.

Paper corporate tax forms and instructions will still be available from the Department upon request. A letter will be going out in lieu of the booklets to corporate tax filers in late December, advising them of the change. Also, tax practitioners are being advised through tax conferences and newsletters.

Forms IT-20, IT-20S, IT-20SC, IT-20NP or IT-65 may either be downloaded from the Department's web site at <http://www.in.gov/dor/taxforms>, or requested from its Forms Ordering Hotline, (317) 615-2581, or ordered via the Department's TaxFax system, (317) 233-2329, from the handset of a fax machine.
